

Tell the Oregon Zoo to Free Chendra

Chendra is a Borneo elephant, an orphan taken from the wild and shipped to the Oregon Zoo at four years old. It is unclear why she was not sent to a refuge in Asia. Whatever the circumstances were, she is now 26, just underwent a miscarriage, and came out of quarantine due to a case of TB. Her TB treatment continues and she continues to exhibit pronounced stereotypical behavior.

Seven baby elephants have died at the zoo and Lily, six, died last year. It is imperative to send Chendra to an accredited sanctuary now to give her a chance to heal from her many zoonotic conditions in a warm, serene, and spacious sanctuary.

Tell the Oregon Zoo to Free Chendra

Chendra is a Borneo elephant, an orphan taken from the wild and shipped to the Oregon Zoo at four years old. It is unclear why she was not sent to a refuge in Asia. Whatever the circumstances were, she is now 26, just underwent a miscarriage, and came out of quarantine due to a case of TB. Her TB treatment continues and she continues to exhibit pronounced stereotypical behavior.

Seven baby elephants have died at the zoo and Lily, six, died last year. It is imperative to send Chendra to an accredited sanctuary now to give her a chance to heal from her many zoonotic conditions in a warm, serene, and spacious sanctuary.

Ban Breeding, Buying, Selling, and Trading Elephants

Please contact:

Lynn Peterson - Metro President
lynn.peterson@oregonmetro.gov
503-797-1889

Metro Council
metrocouncil@oregonmetro.gov
503-797-1540

FreeOregonZooElephants.org

Like us on Facebook * Follow us on Twitter & Instagram

Ban Breeding, Buying, Selling, and Trading Elephants

Please contact:

Lynn Peterson - Metro President
lynn.peterson@oregonmetro.gov
503-797-1889

Metro Council
metrocouncil@oregonmetro.gov
503-797-1540

FreeOregonZooElephants.org

Like us on Facebook * Follow us on Twitter & Instagram